Summary	This reproduction successfully reproduced all figures output by the original code. All original MATLAB code was provided and the reproduction had a small compute time.

Summary

This code was straightforward to check. All original code was provided and figures were reproduced as expected.

CODECHECKER notes

The original code was provided in the GitHub repo here: https://github.com/spitschan/Spitschan2020_bioRxiv. Code was written in MATLAB and instructions to run were clearly given in the README. I cloned the repo, removed the figures in the figures folder and then ran the s_runAllCode.m script in a MATLAB console. All figures were reproduced and saved into the figures folder. The script took This took 2 minutes to run on a department workstation.

License information

The code required some matlab toolboxes. I ran the following after running their scripts to identify the licenses:

```
>> license('inuse')
curve_fitting_toolbox matlab signal_toolbox statistics_toolbox

About CODECHECK

This certificate confirms that the codechecker could independently reproduce the results of a computational analysis given the data and code from a third party. A CODECHECK does not check whether the original computation analysis is correct. However, as all materials required for the reproduction are freely available by following the links in this document, the reader can then study for themselves the code and data.

About this document

This document was created using R Markdown using the `codecheck` R package. `make codecheck.pdf` will regenerate the report file.
